INVITATION

Dear Sponsor/Exhibitor,

On behalf of the Scientific and Organizing Committees, it is my personal great pleasure to invite you to join us at the 11th International Symposium on Chromatography of Natural Products (ISCNP'2018) that will be held in Lublin, Poland on June 4th-7th, 2018.

The International Symposium on Chromatography of Natural Products covers all aspects related to natural products research. Our scientific meetings began in 1992, when we organized the first national conference. After a few years we decided to expand our annual Polish meetings to biennial international symposia. Following the tradition of all of the previous meetings, the aim of upcoming ISCNP'2018 is to discuss trends, present the latest results, and exchange ideas relevant to all of the chromatographic and related techniques, as well as hyphenated methods used in phytochemical and biomedical analysis, sample preparation, and the isolation of biologically active metabolites from medicinal plants, food crops, and other natural sources.

The symposium will include invited plenary lectures, oral presentations, two poster sessions, exhibitions, and social activities. Our main goal is to bring together scientists from universities, research centers, and industry from all over the world and offer to all a great and attractive Symposium, joining different cultures and knowledge together in the lovely city of Lublin.

I would like to cordially invite sponsors who are close to the subject of modern analytical research on medicines of natural origin and phytotherapy to participate in our Symposium. I also direct my warm invitation to exhibitors of the analytical equipment used in phytochemical and biomedical research as well as the representatives of herbal industry associated with the production of natural medicines, food supplements and cosmetics based on plant extracts or isolated components of plant origin. I sincerely hope that you will join us in making the 11th International Symposium on Chromatography of Natural Products a real success by taking advantage of sponsorship opportunities and/or presenting various types of interesting exhibitions during our Symposium.

I am looking forward to welcoming all of you in June to Lublin and to the ISCNP'2018.

Yours sincerely,

Prof. Dr. Kazimierz Głowniak
Symposium Chairman
